New Scientist

New Scientist magazine was launched in 1956 "for all those men and women who are interested in scientific discovery, and in its industrial, commercial and social consequences". The brand's mission is no different today - for its consumers, New Scientist reports, explores and interprets the results of human endeavour set in the context of society and culture.

The Chemical News and Journal of Industrial Science

Technological advancements in the present time involves innovation at all stages of research, development, diffusion and use; and in this process of continuous advancement demands all round skilling of the students as well as improvements in the employability of the pass out students. The curriculum plays an important role in the process of skilling of the students. Keeping all these under considerations, the curriculum of most of the states in the North - eastern states of India either has been revised or are in the progress. The availability of a suitable book becomes a big problem for the students and teachers as per the new/ revised curriculum/ syllabus; and to help in the teaching - learning process this book has been written. This book contains only twelve units; and each unit has been further divided into sub units. It is hoped that the text matters given in this book will attract students and teachers, and will enable the students to develop a greater interest in the science & technology, especially in the field of engineering chemistry. Any suggestion aimed to improve the content of the book will be highly appreciated. I owe my gratefulness to all those who have supported me in writing this book. I extend my thanks to the entire team of publisher for their dedication and efficient support in publishing this hand book. Dr. Rajendra Prasad, Mizoram Polytechnic, Lunglei.

New Scientist

Journal of the Royal Society of Arts

New Scientist magazine was launched in 1956 "for all those men and women who are interested in scientific discovery, and in its industrial, commercial and social consequences". The brand's mission is no different today - for its consumers, New Scientist reports, explores and interprets the results of human endeavour set in the context of society and culture.

Journal of the Chemical Society

Any good text book, particularly that in the fast changing fields such as engineering & technology, is not only expected to cater to the current curricular requirements of various institutions but also should provide a glimpse towards the latest developments in the concerned subject and the relevant disciplines. It should guide the periodic review and updating of the curriculum.

Electroplating & Metal Finishing

This book is written strictly for the first and second semester diploma students of engineering chemistry according to the revised syllabus. It aims to provide a thorough understanding of the chemical concepts, theories and principles in Engineering Chemistry in a clear and concise manner, so that the average students are able to grasp the intricacies of the subject. Explaining general concepts of atomic structure and chemical bond, the book covers all advanced topics such as acid-base theory, concentration of solutions, electrochemistry, corrosion, metallurgy, hydrocarbons, sources of water and its treatment, lubricants and adhesives, fuel, polymer and environmental chemistry. Each theoretical concept is well supported by illustrative examples. Besides, the book provides a large number of solved problems to reinforce the theoretical understanding of concepts. Each chapter contains glossary terms and provides short questions and long questions for practice. Previous year question papers and model questions with answers are appended at the end of the book to help students ace in examinations.
