How We Met

At forty-four, Helena Treadwell thought she had everything sorted. After divorcing her control freak ex, Leonard Wallis, she and her nine-year-old son, Freddie, relocated to her home town of Castleford. She's made a happy home for them and has a successful career as a radio presenter. Finally she feels she's clawing back the control and confidence she lost to Leonard. But life is never simple for long Helena unexpectedly loses her job and Leonard announces that not only does he want Freddie to attend a private boarding school, he's also decided to move to Castleford to set up home with 'the other woman'. Suddenly Helena's losing control again, as her past comes back to unravel her future.

From the Moment We Met

I wasn't supposed to love Nate Grady, let alone marry him. But we found a love that triumphed over all adversity...just like Jane Eyre, my very favorite heroine. I was young, bookish, naive...on the verge of entering the convent—and then I met him.... The day I abandoned my old life, the day I agreed to marry him, now seems an eternity ago. But despite everyone's objections, I fell for Nate. An older, previously married man. My first and only love. My husband. When I looked into Nate's eyes on our wedding day, the rest of the world vanished. If I was crazy for doing this, I prayed the craziness would last forever....

From The Moment We Met

"Half My Heart is in Iraq! - stories of love for our brave" is a sparkling new 528-page publication recognizing our troops serving around the world and the families that support them. Over 500 stories and 1,100 photographs are presented in a straightforward format and are authored by the hearts and minds of real military families from across America. These stories are an inspiration to us all, and a definite must-have for all military families as a keepsake of honor and an example of the total military family experience, truly an inspirational piece of literature full of love, hope, and sunshine! The first copies will be submitted for acceptance into our National Archives, The Smithsonian Institute in Washington, DC, hopefully to be added to their permanent collection of military stories. A troop recognition project of this magnitude has never been accomplished before, until now! Additional copies will be delivered to the White House and Congress.

The Night We Met

From the Moment We Met

One early evening on March 25 of 1991, I wrote a small story called Transcendent of an adolescent, using myself as a third person with a third person view, since then I used writing as an outlet to express my most inner emotions while still looking at the world that was always evolving and revolving around me at all times, while not only paying attention of my close friends, family and surroundings I decided within that year to take on a journey of writing about all those experiences most where not my own but was always a good chance to help someone else along the way, so here is the first book out of my trilogy to share with everyone, as you may find some correlation with your life and what you might be experience at the moment or someone that you might know of, enjoy the read as much as I enjoy writing it, as there is as much as you in it as much as me as well as an author, a person, a friend, a colleague, a companion and as a man.

Shattered Dreams, Broken Promises

Newly divorced interior designer Abby DeLuca lands the job of a lifetime and refuses to let anything stand in the way of her happiness, until she runs into former flame Jack Tanner, who shattered her heart years ago.

Here's Looking At You

A "taut and fraught . . . Paranoia-inducing." (Entertainment Weekly) psychological thriller that will keep readers guessing right up until the last page. A whirlwind romance. A picture-perfect marriage. Hannah Reilly has seized her chance at happiness. Until the day her husband doesn't come home Hannah, independent, headstrong and determined not to follow in the footsteps of her bitterly divorced mother, has always avoided commitment. But one hot New York summer she meets Mark Reilly, a fellow Brit, and is swept up in a love affair that changes all her ideas about what marriage might mean. Now, living in their elegant, expensive London townhouse and adored by her fantastically successful husband, she knows she was right to let down her guard. But when Mark does not return from a business trip to the States and when the hours of waiting for him stretch into days, the foundations of Hannah's certainty begins to crack. Why do Mark's colleagues believe he has gone to Paris not America? Why is there no record of him at his hotel? And who is the mysterious woman who has been telephoning him over the last few weeks? Hannah begins to dig into her husband's life uncovering revelations that throw into doubt everything she has ever believed about him. As her investigation leads her away from their fairytale romance into a place of violence and fear she must decide whether the secrets Mark has been keeping are designed to protect him, or protect her

Before We Met

'A Series of Moments' follows the journey of Jacob Edmonton, a world-famous actor, and Lilly Staver, the nurse who saved him from himself. "Beautifully Broken Moments" is the stunning conclusion in the trilogy, but after all the upheaval, will Jacob and Lilly ever find their Happily Ever After? All it takes is a moment-one moment can change the course of your life-and love. With a single statement during a press conference, Jacob upended his world, destroying his happiness and heart in the process. When his ex-girlfriend Victoria claimed she was not only engaged to the acting legend but also expecting his child, Jacob went along with the charade. But his actions were not to salvage his reputation or career; they were to protect the only thing that mattered-his real fiancée, Lilly. To save her from the backlash of Victoria's jealousy and rage, Jacob let go of the only woman he had ever loved. As the truth behind the events of the last several months shifts into sharp focus, Jacob is left with one final choice-move on without Lilly or fight with everything in his being to reunite with the love of his life. For Jacob, it's the easiest decision he's ever made. Lilly watched her dreams crumble on international television when Jacob claimed she was "a brief fling"; too bad her heart never received the memo. Devastated by his most recent betrayal, she plans to flee England and Jacob forever, intent on escaping their tempestuous romance, until she learns the reality behind Jacob's actions. Just as their plans start falling back into place, the wheel of life doles out a tragedy that will test them on every level. Is Jacob's love enough to carry them through or is the trail of heartache too difficult for Lilly to traverse again? This is the final book in the trilogy 'A Series of Moments', chronicling the timeless and heart-wrenching love story of Jacob Edmonton & Lilly Staver. Subjects include: modern-day romance, London, Hollywood, celebrity love-story, trilogy

Dear Jerk Across the Street, sorry for accidentally walking in on you and catching an eyeful of your--equipment. And hard pass on the open invitation to join you in the shower "anytime", A-hole. That's the note I should've written. Instead I sent a pleasant and apologetic version. Had I known Phoenix "Nix" Russo would've been the neighbor from hell, I'd have told him right where he could shove my words. Nix is the big man on campus with everyone lined up at his games to make sure he knows it. Sure, he's got piercing blue eyes, abs that don't quit and a smile that could set fire to a set of panties from a hundred yards away, but he's also the biggest pain in my ass. Dear Pink-Haired Menace, learn how to take a joke and stop being such a kill-joy Elle Masterson called the cops on one of my parties--again. My sweet talking usually gets me out of trouble, but this time it got me into a nice pair of silver handcuffs. Now I'm on a reputation rehab tour with a stop at a spring break community service project. Guess who's my new boss? Now we're shoulder to shoulder, sweaty, tired and she's not anything like I expected. There might just be a heart under that hardass exterior. She's invading my dreams and I can't shake the feeling she's the key to unlocking a piece of me that I've hidden away. It's only a matter of time until she finds out why I'm really here. Maybe I can break through her walls and into her heart before that happensone screw at a time.

Beautifully Broken Moments: A Modern Day Romance

This is a collection of essays on general and specific topics of comparative private and comparative public law by distinguished legal scholars from every part of the world in honour to the work of Alice Ehr-Soon Tay. The essays demonstrate the changing approach to common law in legal culture and present a body of texts on comparative law problems arching from Asia to Europe to Australia. The volume furthermore indicates that there is no area where comparative law has proved more dominant and useful than in regard to human rights and comparative constitutional analysis. Finally, this book is an outstanding cross-cultural contribution to comparative private law and comparative constitutional law in terms of understanding legal culture and law. It will be invaluable to all those who practise, teach or judge law. Articles by Kim Santow, Saul Fridman, W. M. C. Gummow, J. A. About Time

FACETS is a testimony of my journey a journey of joy and happiness, failures and disappointments, despair and brokenness. It took a lot of courage, strength and tenacity to piece my life back together again. Armoured with spiritual ignorance and oblivion I faltered and failed in my efforts. As a last resort I turned to the ONE who picked me up and set me on solid ground. Gods unfailing love shone brightly in my darkened world of struggles and the resilience I experienced was a turning point in my life which inspired me to share my story and I feel privileged to be of service to Him.

We Met in December

The stunning new novel from the Number 1 bestselling Irish author Lynn Stephens' life has been tough recently, thanks to Vincent Boland, the manager at four-star hotel she works in. But, after standing up to him, she is delighted when she is vindicated. Facets

"When I was very young, there was a little boy. We didn't know each other, but I still can't forget his appearance. He stood in the square with the white pigeons beside him. Holding one of them in his arms, he stood on tiptoe and raised his hands in the air. He let the white pigeon fly away. It was a warm and beautiful picture. From that moment on, I fell in love with that little boy, but I only met him once. " Mu Xiangnan felt that her description was very familiar, so he turned on his computer and took out a photo of himself as a child to show her. Liu Xia cheered in pleasant surprise, "Mu Xiangnan, how did you get this photo?" "This is the picture of the little boy when he released the white pigeon." This little boy is me. " Liu Xia looked at Mu Xiangnan in shock, and then, tears streamed his face. "Mu Xiangnan, it turns out that we've met a long time ago, and it turns out that I've already fallen in love with you."

From the Moment We Met

Sometimes you're interested. Sometimes you can't be bothered. Sometimes love doesn't give you a choice. In Jacob and Lilly's case, love isn't letting either of them go. Jacob Edmonton has a plan for his life, but it doesn't include love. He was Hollywood's quintessential golden boy-until a flash-in-the-pan fling with a high-profile singer upended his world-and his reputation. Now he's nursing more than a wounded ego and his only goal is to repair the damage. But his return to superstardom is shot to hell when his sister winds up undergoing emergency surgery. There he meets Lilly Staver, a straight-shooting nurse who's as brutally honest as she is beautiful. She sees through his suave façade and he wants to hate her until he realizes he can't resist her. Lilly knows all about men like Jacob Edmonton-if you've seen one pretentious, egocentric celebrity-you've seen them all. She's unimpressed with his Hollywood pedigree and his belief that love is reserved solely for maniacs. So why can't she stop thinking about him? Her mind tells her to run as fast as she can from Jacob-but her heart isn't listening. Love as they know it just took a hairpin turn into uncharted territory, but when Jacob's former girlfriend shows up with an opportunity to salvage his career, will he choose the life he knows or the love he never knew existed? This is the first of three books in 'A Series of Moments', chronicling the timeless and heart-wrenching love story of Jacob Edmonton & Lilly Staver.

The Moment Our Eyes Met

A woman on the run changes identities and spends a decade learning to become someone else. A police detective, whose wife of nearly thirty years has died, is left alone, wondering where to turn in plotting a course for his life without her. They meet in a retirement community for serious-minded nudists, she as the receptionist for this entrepreneurial business and he as the new head of the security force that one day will grow into a police department. Neither one has entered into this new phase of their life with the intention of finding someone to love, but fate - and life - often have other plans for those who hold in them the capacity to love to the fullest. A danger from her past enters in and forces them to make the hardest decisions of their lives in order to save those they love. The outcome may shake and destroy everything they have built thus far, forcing both of them to take stock of themselves and each other. Does either of them have what it takes to overcome this dark splotch on what had been a pristine relationship born in the stars, or will they admit defeat and move on to whatever life holds next for them elsewhere along their journeys? Since the Moment We Met - An intoxicating tale of loss, life, betrayal, and love without boundaries.

Half My Heart Is in Iraq!

“An hour, once it lodges in the queer element of the human spirit, may be stretched to fifty or a hundred times its clock length; on the other hand, an hour may be accurately represented on the timepiece of the mind by one second.”

—Virginia Woolf, Orlando: A Biography, 1928 About Time: Fashion and Duration traces the evolution of fashion, from 1870 to the present, through a linear timeline of iconic garments, each paired with an alternate design that jumps forward or backward in time. These unexpected pairings, which relate to one another through shape, motif, material, pattern, technique, or decoration, create a unique and disruptive fashion chronology that conflates notions of past, present, and future. Virginia Woolf serves as “ghost narrator”: excerpts from her novels reflect on the passage of time with each subsequent plate pairing. A new short story by Michael Cunningham, winner of the Pulitzer Prize for Fiction for The Hours, recounts a day in the life of a woman over a time span of 150 years through her changing fashions. Scholar Theodore Martin analyzes theoretical responses to the nature of time, underscoring that time is not simply a sequence of historical events. And fashion photographer Nicholas Alan Cope illustrates 120 fashions with sublime black and-white photography. This stunning book reveals fashion’s paradoxical connection to linear notions of time.

Wedding Planner

The new novel from the bestselling author of You Had Me At Hello.

Greek Soul

In the tradition of Married to the Mob and The Wedding Banquet, Rob Byrnes' wickedly funny debut novel serves up the most deliciously wacky love story in ages--a screwball romantic comedy where boy gets gorgeous Mafia boyfriend, boy loses Mafia boyfriend and nearly gets whacked by most of New York, boy gets Mafia boyfriend and more than he bargained for. . . "We Are Family" Just Took On A Whole New Meaning. . . Andrew Westlake's life is boring him into a coma. After fifteen years in New York, he has not met up with the gay equivalent of the Rat Pack. He has not realized his dream of becoming the literary voice of his generation. And he most definitely has not met a Mr. Right to share a fabulous penthouse with a view of something other than an air shaft. In fact, the love of his life has just left their cramped, Upper West Side apartment to move in with an apprentice window designer with bleached hair, and Andrew's two novels have tanked, ending up in bookstore bargain bins. Stuck in a dead-end publishing job and still nursing his broken heart and tepid reviews, Andrew is resigned to a life of anti-fabulousness. . .until the night he meets dark, hunky Frank DiBenedetto. With his confident way of taking care of things and his shy demeanor in the bedroom, Frank wins Andrew over. Who cares that Andrew's friends, the flamboyantly out-there David and wry Denise, suspect that there's more to Frank than he's letting on? A little mystery is good. . .right? Wrong! Not if the mystery is that your lover turns out to be the son of the Mafia's top boss, and he's engaged to Anna Franco--daughter of "Crazy Tommy" Franco--a woman who does not take kindly to catching her fiancé in the act of becoming "a made man." Suddenly, Andrew's once-boring life is heating up with enough action to fuel ten novels. . .if only he can keep his very cute butt intact and his man from ending up on a Most Wanted poster. From a couple of "sensitivity-trained" cops to a persistent FBI agent. . .from guys with nicknames that all have to do with pain to a Mafia princess whose hair is nearly as big as her mouth. . .from ex-lovers, drag queens, and suspicious doormen to a cast of other characters as zany as New York, itself, The Night We Met is a frantic, nonstop, madcap romp through a wild romance no reader will be able to refuse.

The Second Time We Met

Adored and nurtured by his adoptive parents in California, Asher Stone has moved effortlessly through a nearly perfect life. He is on the verge of a professional soccer career--when a car accident throws his future into doubt. Suddenly, Asher begins to wonder about his past, and about the girl who gave him up for adoption in Colombia two decades ago. And so begins his search for a woman named Rita Ortiz. From the teeming streets of Bogota to a tiny orphanage tucked into a hillside, Asher untangles the mystery of Rita's identity, her abrupt disappearance from her home, and the winding journey that followed. But as Asher comes closer to finding Rita, his own parents are faced with fears and doubts. And Rita must soon make her own momentous choice: stay hidden in her hard-earned new life, or meet the secret son who will bring painful memories--or the promise of a new beginning . . .

One Step Out of Sync a Bubble Out of Plumb

Following a year in the life of a twenty-something British woman who falls hard for her London flat mate, this clever, fun, and unforgettable romantic comedy is the perfect feel-good holiday read. Two people. One house. A year that changes everything. Twenty-nine-year-old Jess is following her dream and moving to London. It's December, and she's taking a room in a crumbling, but grand, Notting Hill house-share with four virtual strangers. On her first night, Jess meets Alex, the guy sharing her floor, at a Christmas dinner hosted by her landlord. They don't kiss, but as far as Jess is concerned the connection is clear. She starts planning how they will knock down the wall between them to spend more time together. But when Jess returns from a two-week Christmas holiday, she finds Alex has started dating someone else—beautiful Emma, who lives on the floor above them. Now Jess faces a year of bumping into (hell, sharing a bathroom with) the man of her dreams...and the woman of his.
